

New Building for the Ogden Wholesale Drug, 24th Street, to Cost $45,000

Further evidence of industrial expansion in Ogden is given in the announcement that the Ogden Wholesale Drug company had perfected plans for the construction of a new building on the lot adjoining the company's establishment at 151-157 Twenty-fourth street. Plans and specifications for the new structure, which are now in the hands of the architect, Shreve & Madsen, call for a three-story reinforced concrete structure that will be absolutely fireproof. The building will have a frontage of 42 feet. It will be 134 feet long. The cost will approximate $45,000.

Excavation work, preliminary to construction on the principal part of the structure, will begin as soon as the contract is awarded. Charles Empey, manager, states it is possible the construction work will begin within the next two weeks.

The new building will form an addition to the present establishment and the two will have a frontage of 100 feet. When the new structure is completed, the company will have more floor space for the conduct of its business than any wholesale drug house west of Denver.

The plans of the company call for a transfer of the office rooms to the new building, which will include equipment for that purpose. The space now occupied as office in the present establishment will be converted into the sundries department.

Mr. Empey said the building extension was decided on to permit the company to expand its business into new territory which had begun to show recognition of the fact that Ogden is the logical shipping center of the intermountain country.

Incidentally, Mr. Empey said the improvement was necessitated by the demands on the soda fountain phase of the company's business. This feature has assumed enormous proportions, the company now being the exclusive wholesale agents for fountains manufactured by the Walrus Manufacturing company in that portion of the United States between the meridian through Omaha and the Pacific coast.

The soda fountain business will constitute a department separate from others of the company and will be in charge of H. T. Gee, who is an expert in the business, being both a designer and builder of soda fountains. Recently Mr. Gee, as the representative of the Ogden company, installed a fountain at Pocatello, which is held to be the finest in the Gem state. The fountain cost $2,500.

The company is now preparing to install a new fountain in the drug store at Twenty-fifth street and Washington avenue, which was recently taken over by Drew Marshall and associates.

Five carloads of fountains will be placed in stock in the new building as soon as it is ready for occupancy. The company also will add to its stock all kinds of drug store fixtures as well as increase the stock of heavy chemicals.

The company now is surpassing any other wholesale drug concern in the intermountain section in the heavy chemical business. Three months ago the company received the first straight car of denatured alcohol consigned to one party ever shipped into the intermountain country. Another car of the chemical is in transit now.

Heaviest Buyers.

In conjunction with the soda fountain business, the company is laying plans to expand its wholesale business in supplying the intermountain west with fruits and syrups used at soda fountains. The company recently received a shipment of 5 carloads of the products of the J. Hungerford Smith company, of which they are exclusive agents, and which manufactures a product that is recognized as standard all over the country. Mr. Palmer, sales manager for the Hungerford company, on a recent visit to the city, made the statement that the Ogden Wholesale Drug concern purchased more Hungerford supplies than any other patrons of the company in the United States.

Mr. Empey attributes the growth of the business of the Ogden Wholesale Drug Co. to an efficiency system, which, he declares, is the outgrowth of perfect harmony prevailing among employees, many of whom are high-priced workers.

"The company finds," Mr. Empey continued, "that a hundred-dollar man is worth a hundred dollars and that an even higher priced man is worth the amount of his hire. It is the policy to make every employee responsible. That creates an interest in the work and leads to co-operation, which is necessary to the success of any business. Co-operation has resulted in efficiency, which is to be found in every department."

The general manager of the company then produced a letter. It was from one of the company's patrons in a city in Oregon. The last two lines of the letter read:

"Thanks for the promptness always shown in your shipment of orders. You have the other drug houses beaten a mile in efficiency."

"That was unsolicited," said Mr. Empey. "It tells more and is better explanation of a company's success than I could possibly give."

COPPER FOUND IN ARCTIC NORTH

Discovered by Stefansson
Party Near Mouth of Mackenzie River.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 11.—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Canadian explorer, is probably still continuing his investigation of the new island or continent which he discovered last year north of Prince Patrick island, according to Dr. Rudolph Anderson, commander of the southern branch of the Canadian expedition which went north in the summer of 1913, and who returned to Seattle today.

The expedition was divided into two parts, the northern, under Stefansson, which was to seek new land in the polar sea, and the southern, under Anderson, which was to make a topographical and geological survey of the country east of the mouth of the Mackenzie river, especially the copper deposits. Stefansson found new land, and Anderson found and mapped vast areas of lava containing copper deposits on Coronation gulf and Bathurst inlet, workable by surface mining and the ore transportable to the Mackenzie river by construction of a railroad through a country comparatively level and presenting no great engineering difficulties.

Stefansson, with the large power boat Polar Bear, passed last winter at Princess Royal island with fifteen white men, nineteen Eskimos, including women and children, and a large number of dogs. Last spring he sent a number of Eskimos to Melville island to kill barren land caribou and musk ox for his summer expedition. He also sent sledge parties north to the new continent with quantities of supplies for the summer work. Caribou are to be found on the new continent, but no musk ox.

Nothing is known of the results of the summer exploration. Stefansson said there was a possibility that he would come south in late summer and leave for Nome with his three power boats and all his effects, but as nothing has been heard of him at Nome, it is believed he decided to continue his explorations until the polar sea was frozen over and then return by sledges to winter quarters chosen by him at Winter Harbor, Melville island, northeast of Banks land. The Polar Bear was moved to Winter Harbor last summer. The power boat Mary Sachs is hauled out on the shore at Cape Kellett, Banks land, and is in good order. The power boat North Star is hauled out on the north side of Banks land. Both can easily be put in condition for sea.

Stefansson's heart was set on accomplishing the northwest passage next spring and summer and ending his voyage by ascending the St. Lawrence river at Montreal. If he undertakes this journey, he will abandon the small boats now on Banks island or send them back to Nome with small crews. Stefansson had an abundance of gasoline on the Polar Bear last spring and has not used much since then, having moved the vessel only a short distance. There is a great quantity of gasoline at Herschel island, landed by the whaler Belve-

BAVARIAN PRINCE IS IN COMMAND

Entrusted With General Direction of Operations on Somme Front.

Berlin, Monday, Sept. 11, via London, Sept. 12, 12:45 p. m.—Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria has now assumed the over-command of the German armies on the Somme front. He is entrusted with the general direction of operations against the Anglo-French offensive. All troops assigned to this task are placed under his control, making possible the distribution of reserves and the employment of all the means of war to the best advantage under a unified plan. The appointment of Prince Rupprecht was effective before the latest visit of an Associated Press correspondent to Bapaume last week, but the news could not be cabled until the announcement in the official army headquarters' report of today, which reveals a general rearrangement of commands brought about by the appointment of Field Marshal von Hindenburg as chief of staff. The new order divides the western front into three sectors and assigns these to three principally commanders who, regardless of reasons of policy which dictated their appointments to command of armies at the beginning of the war, have won their spurs by the successful conduct of operations. They are regarded here not as figureheads but as generals of experience and distinction.

Duke Albrecht, prospective heir to the kingdom of Wurttemberg, who is the command of the northern sector, before the war had risen to the rank of general and corps commander. He inflicted the first great defeat on the French in the dash northward through Belgium. Crown Prince Rupprecht in command of the central sector, was the victor in the battle in Lorraine which crushed and repulsed the French invasion of Germany in 1914. The German crown prince has the over-command in the Verdun sector.

September Sale of Blankets

Stocks are ready for the great September Sale of Blankets, which is an annual affair at this store. By placing orders for great quantities for early shipment we have been able to buy blankets at prices which makes this sale possible.

Here's the plan: You may select at sale prices all of the bedding you are likely to want, and if it is not needed today, we will hold them for you until you are ready—only a small payment down is required. See the display in the Twenty-fourth street windows. The sale is now in progress in the Subway.

Double Service Suits for Boys

Have you ever noticed that the pants of the boys' suits are worn out long before the coat is even showing wear? And yet when you try to get a pair of extra pants it is quite impossible to get those which match the coat.

We offer now a double service suit for boys—in that two pairs of pants are supplied with the coat. And the entire suit is made to give double service. The pants are full lines. The workmanship is all done in the best manner possible—the coats are made to retain their shape and the materials are as good as those his daddy's suits are made of.

Great Exhibit of Silks

We are planning today for one of the greatest exhibitions and sale of silks ever held in Ogden. During the recent trip to New York our buyers were instrumental in securing the most complete lot of silks we have ever brought to Ogden. As silks are among the very scarce articles this year, this news has more than ordinary value.

In order to display this great silk offering it will be necessary to show them in all of the windows from our corner to the Shoe section windows, a display covering more than one hundred feet of window space. In this exhibit will be seen all of the most popular silks of the year as well as a great many at prices which will be impossible later in the season. Our advice is to secure all of your silks as early as possible.

Tomorrow we revive the Hourly Sales—those events which brought savings of many dollars to our customers during the early part of the year. As the store is free from old stocks, new merchandise has been used almost entirely in arranging this list. These items are on sale tomorrow during the hours specified.

Corsets Should Be Fitted

It is generally conceded that the beauty of ready-to-wear garments depends very largely upon the style and fit of one's corset. Since the new garments are made to fit the lines of the new fall and winter styles of corsets, it is very apparent that a perfect fit cannot be secured over a poorly fitted or old style corset.

At considerable expense we have sent our corsetiere to the best school in America—where the proper fitting of corsets is taught. It is her business to not merely fit the corsets to one's figure, but to help in the selection of the proper model.

Before you begin to try on the garments of Fall, see that you are wearing the proper corset and that it has been properly fitted to your needs. New Gossards, New Warners and Redferns are all ready.

Dressmakers Now Ready

Madam Capiau and Madam Mitchel are now back in their departments on the third floor of this store. During the past summer both ladies have spent much time in the various style centers, gathering new ideas for the making of wearing apparel for the coming season.

These dressmaking establishments, which are acknowledged to be the very best in Ogden, are maintained for the service of our customers—to make into gowns the fabrics which are purchased at this store. Being here in the store they are able to give to customers much valuable aid in the selection of materials and trimmings. Both establishments are now ready to design fall and winter garments.
